FRANKLIN COUNTY COURT HOUSE

To Louisburg . . . county seat . . . safe between the muddy Tar and the granite monument . . . Droning auctioneers . . . clanging church bells . . . crackling leaves . . . familiar faces . . .

To Louisburg . . . college town . . . home for nine months . . . Walking, laughing, buying, washing, hoping, waiting students . . .

To Louisburg . . . the years go but the town remains . . . quiet beneath the flag . . .

Edward M. Bartholomew
1908 . . . October 1963

Businessman . . . Trustee for seven years . . . Benefactor walls, shrubbery, walks, recreation facilities, fences . . . A friend to be remembered . . .

College for many of us has become so commonplace that we take it for granted. Many of the days we spend on the campus may seem monotonous, uneventful, inconsequential. There doubtlessly are moments while we are pursuing higher education that we wonder whether or not the investment in time and money is worthwhile. Often we may be so near an experience that we fail to realize its full significance.

But the unfolding years make us increasingly aware of the tremendous benefits we received in college. The expansion of knowledge, the enlargement of perspective and vision, the development of self-discipline, the capacity to think creatively and to reason soundly, the ability to work with our fellowman all are sharpened perceptibly by college. The pages of The Oak, capturing many events of the academic year, will enable us to value and to cherish the transforming experiences of campus life and to be increasingly proud that we were a part of the 1963-64 student body at Louisburg College.

L. C. PLANS NEW LIBRARY

Plans are being made for the construction of a new library here at Louisburg College. March of 1964 is the date set by the Board for the ground breaking ceremony, and it is to be opened in 1965.

A pamphlet containing descriptive and informative data concerning the new building has been published and is becoming distributed to interested friends of the college.

The building was designed by Harry J. Harles, an architect of Rocky Mount. The exterior design combines traditional and contemporary characteristics in that its columns suggest those of Main Building, and its colored glass and bricks blend with those of the new dormitories.

The library will be a two-story building with a partial basement. Its proposed location is what is now the day student parking lot.

1963 GLEE CLUB DEBUT

The forty-three member Louisburg College Glee Club under the direction of Miss Sarah Foster, made its first appearance of the year on October 7. At that time, they sang for the opening chapel service of Religious Emphasis Week.

The various appearances of the Glee Club throughout the year will include those to be made on Foundation Day and Benefactors Day, as well a Christmas Concert to be given on December 17 at 8:00 p.m.

The Christmas Concert, a highlight of the Glee Club's work this semester, will include carols from England, France, Sweden, Italy, and America. Closing the program will be a short cantata premiered by Fred Waring's Glee Club in 1945 and presented since that time by Waring on radio and television.

The chapel choir, composed of sixteen members of the Glee Club, appears weekly at the chapel services and has several out-of-town engagements scheduled for the first semester. Among these are engagements at Westover Church, Raleigh, October 13; at Maury, October 27; at Fremont, November 10;

Memorials and Gifts

Friends of the College who are interested in helping to build the library—by establishing a memorial or by giving in their own names—will find that many areas of the proposed building lend themselves well to this purpose. Plaques will mark memorial features, bearing the names of the donors and those honored or remembered. Costs of the special areas range from $3,200 to $40,000.

A gift to the College library makes you a participant in our determined effort to raise our academic and intellectual standards.

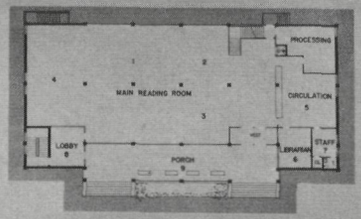

The Library Building Committee suggests the gifts and memorials listed to the right.
